

BARBORA FARKASOVA

Consultant, Strategic Consulting Partnership

Office: 604-718-8292

E-mail: barborafarkasova@ucscoop.com

About Barbora:

Barbora is passionate about the non-profit sector and has a strong interest in community development. She has worked and volunteered both locally and abroad, and most recently spent a year in England completing her Master's in Development Studies at the University of Cambridge. Barbora is an active volunteer in her community, currently volunteering with a national non-profit organization, presenting on international development issues to elementary and high school students on the North Shore. Barbora brings excellent research and writing skills along with a strong understanding of the non-profit sector to her work.

Education, Training, and Experience:

- Master's in Development Studies - University of Cambridge, United Kingdom (2007-2008)
- Undergraduate Degree in International Relations and Minor in Commerce – University of British Columbia (2001-2005)

Recent Projects:

- Researched best practices and wrote a comprehensive background guide for a recent visioning and strategic planning process with service providers and funders for early childhood development
- Co-lead coordination of workshop delivery and evaluation of a financial literacy workshop series for non-profits, on behalf of a local credit union
- Assisted with coordination of a national Shared Services Project, a collaborative project with partners in five Canadian regions, to explore methods of non-profit organizations to share services and work together